FLIGHT PLAN

TAKEOFF FIRST 90 DAYS

CHART YOUR COURSE

Create an environment where your group members can connect and grow. Think about studies, resources, and experience to help them take the next steps.

ALIGN EXPECTATIONS

Remind group members to show up, join in, and be real. Use the Group Agreement.

PRIORITIZE RELATIONSHIPS

Groups that enjoy one another tend to grow. Tell your stories, serve together, and have fun.

FLIGHT MIDDLE MONTHS

STAY ON COURSE

Remind your group that your goal is to grow personally and to eventually make space for others to join a group. Keep track of where you are and where you're headed.

AVOID ROUTINE

A predictable environment helps everyone feel safe. Plan interruptions to the normal rhythm of meetings by organizing socials, retreats, and service projects.

PLAN THE LANDING

Plan ahead of time who in your group might be ready to lead a group when you multiply. Share responsibilities with potential future leaders.

LANDING LAST 90 DAYS

TALK ABOUT "IT."

Not talking about multiplication sets you up for a bad experience. Be intentional about celebrating, encouraging, and having fun.

TALK ABOUT WHAT'S NEXT

Encourage and challenge one another to take next steps. Help potential new leaders step into leadership.

CELEBRATE SUCCESSES

Point out growth when you see it and then celebrate it. Take time to remember everything you've shared.
